

Group Volunteering at Tryon Creek Watershed Council

TCWC regularly works with schools, clubs, and corporate groups to provide education and team-building opportunities through volunteer restoration projects. Whether you are looking for a fun afternoon of bonding for your office or wanting your classroom to have a hands-on day of learning, we would be happy to partner with you!

TCWC considers volunteer groups on a case by case basis and we are happy to provide a customized day of service depending on your group's needs. We typically can only host groups of up to 30 people but can occasionally make exceptions.

Here are some examples of group volunteer days TCWC has led in the past:

- family volunteer day of planting natives with Renaissance Academy of Arts and Sciences
- plant propagation, nature hike, and native species plantings with the School Assistance for Refugee Newcomers program
- office volunteer planting day with Apex Systems, Inc.
- planting project and nature hike with Alternative Spring Break students
